

Where we actually are, on this date.

Every milestone with status and target date, including the ones not started. Published so a sourcing director can tell at a glance whether they are looking at a current version, and so nothing on our website can quietly become aspirational. Reviewed monthly.

2 How to read this sheet.

ITEM 2.0

ITEM 2.1 — WHY THE DATES ARE SHAPED DIFFERENTLY

Milestones we control carry an absolute month. Anything downstream of the lease or of commissioning is stated relative to commissioning, on purpose — an absolute date there would be a commitment we cannot hold and you would rightly diarise it.

ITEM 2.2 — WHAT THIS SHEET IS FOR

So you can forward one page into a vendor file and have it be true on the day someone opens it. If the date at the top is more than a month old, ask us for the current one.

ITEM 2.3 — THE POSITION IN ONE LINE

No shed leased. No production line. No container shipped. No customer. A supplier who tells you that before you ask is the one who will tell you when a shipment slips.

3 Company record.
